

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE A SAHMS COMMUNITY RESEARCHER?

Are you based in Bradford, Sheffield or North Cumbria?
Help bring community perspectives into medicines safety research in homecare.

As a Community Researcher on the SAHMS (Safe Home Meds Study), you will learn about the project and contribute your perspective across data interpretation, co-design and sharing findings with communities.

YOUR ROLE

1 Learn about SAHMS

Attend induction, training, meetings and briefings.

2 Bring a community view

Help interpret findings and identify priorities and solutions.

3 Shape the catalyst film

Review themes, language, accessibility and representation.

You will be remunerated for your time

WHAT WILL I NEED TO DO?

4 SUPPORT CO-DESIGN ACTIVITIES

- Review and prepare accessible workshop materials
- Contribute to priority-setting and co-design activities
- Support community participation and inclusion
- Give feedback on ideas for the Medicines Safety System

5 HELP SHARE THE FINDINGS

- Identify key messages for community audiences
- Review community-facing materials for clarity and accessibility
- Share findings through relevant community networks
- Support dissemination activities and feed community responses back to the team

Your perspective can help make the research clearer, more inclusive and more relevant to communities.
